

ILLUSTRATION REFERENCE LIST BY ARTIST

The illustrations for this publication have been gathered from a range of sources, the majority already published in other ornithological works, but with some commissioned especially for this book and others kindly donated to BirdLife International for use in this publication.

Those taken from other publications have been reproduced here by permission of the copyright holder, nearly always the artist and/or the original publisher of the illustration.

This appendix lists the artists whose illustrations appear in this book, and the sources for their illustrations. There is a number given to each unique combination of artist and illustration source. The unique number is also given alongside the common name of the relevant threatened species listed in the index, thus enabling the artist and original source for a species to be determined from this appendix.
